- 75 Multiple copies of an 8½ x 14 manuscript map of the Applegate Trail and Burnett Trail
76 between Tule Lake and Blue Mountain, in California, by Devere Helfrich; some 77 maps marked with reference to "Klamath County Historical Society Field Trip / 78 Pot Hole Springs, California / Sunday, Sept 24, 1961 / Conducted by Devere and 79 Helen Helfrich"
- 80 One copy of a manuscript map of Applegate Trail from Drain to Eugene, for Klamath 81 Echoes
- 82 Additional Applegate Trail maps by Devere Helfrich from Bloody Point (Tule Lake, 83 California) to Worden, Oregon; Roseburg to Drain, Oregon; Imlay to Rabbit Hole
84 Springs, Nevada
- 85 Directions for driving 2 tour routes for a "Memorial Day Historical Tour" leaving Klamath 86 Falls; the first route described the "historical or longest route" to a "Hot Springs
87 Camp" south of Lake City, California, off the road between Cedarville, California, 88 and Gerlach, Nevada; the second route described the "alternate or shortest 89 route" and went to the same "Hot Springs Camp" and then described the rest of 90 the itinerary to the Double Hot Springs in the Black Rock Desert; four maps are 91 attached showing the described routes beginning from Lakeview, Oregon, and 92 Alturas, California to Gerlach, Nevada, and then on toward Susanville, California,

- 93 through the Smoke Creek Desert along the Nobles' Trail.
94 Several copies of Devere Helfrich's manuscript map of the Applegate Trail from Teeter's
95 Landing, near Keno, Oregon, to "Klamath Junction" where the original Applegate 96 Trail intersected the original Oregon to California trail near Ashland, and the 97 legend "End of this year's Applegate Trail History" apparently for the 1971
98 Klamath Echoes.
99 Several copies of a manuscript map showing outlines of Utah, Nevada, California,
100 Idaho, and Oregon with the Oregon Trail, the California Trail, the Applegate Trail,
101 and the Lassen Trail drawn without scale nor attribution; legend "The Applegate
102 Trail is included under HR 1109 -- -- -- -- -- "
103 Three copies of a manuscript map showing the locations of the Levi Scott grave and the 104 Sarah King Chambers grave near Beulah Reservoir north of Juntura, Oregon;
105 letterhead "Ackerman & Associates, 3027 Twin Oak PI NW, Salem, Oregon 106 97304 / 503-581-0328"
107 One envelope with copies of transcribed letters relating to Indian relations at the 108 Klamath Reservation, 1865-68, some by or to Lindsay Applegate and J. W. Petit
109 Huntington
110 One copy of a report by Mark E. Lawrence of March 1979 and one page addendum 111 undated regarding "Applegate Trail Markers" describing the placing of nine and 112 then two more markers between Jenny Creek Slide and Ashland; several copies 113 of maps annotated with the locations of the markers and indicating a scale which 114 does not appear to correspond to the copies.
115 A copy of a four-page article, including a map; "The Applegate Trail in Benton County"
116 by John E. Smith; no indication of source or date
117 Three copies of a very brief, single-page, description of the Applegate Trail from 118 Douglas County to Benton County with seven pages of maps and one aerial 119 photo attached; apparently related to an introduction and description of a speech
120 by Dick Ackerman on January 19, 1997, at a joint meeting of the Linn County
121 Historical Society and the Northwest Chapter of OCTA.
122 One copy of a December 11, 1996, memo from Glenn Harrison to the NW OCTA
123 Executive Committee regarding the schedule for the next calendar year
124 One envelope containing the agenda for a program to learn stereoscopic aerial 125 photograph ground feature identification with one set of stereoscopic lenses
126 One envelope containing a draft of an article on the Applegate Trail with photographs,
127 no date, no identified author
128 One envelope marked "Steve Randolph Records" containing correspondence between 129 Randolph, as a researcher in Pendleton, and Jack Evans (La Grande) and 130 Gregory Franzwa (St Louis, MO); Randolph described his research and provided
131 maps of the Oregon Trail and other very old wagon roads in the Pendleton area
132 which Franzwa incorporated into "Maps of the Oregon Trail" and later editions of 133 The Oregon Trail Revisited. Evans related how he provided erroneous 134 information about three sites to Aubrey Haines which were incorporated into 135 Haines's study and how Haines provided the maps that Haines had copied (or 136 traced) from Percy JC Brown (of the BLM) and the Oregon State Highway
137 Department for tracing by Jack Evans. There is a cover letter by Julie Alford
138 dated December 17, 1996, directing the materials to Vic Bolon in Sequim, WA

- 139 One white three-ring binder, 2-inch size; records of Vic Bolon as chairman of mapping
140 and marking projects for Northwest OCTA; projects: Hilgard to Indian 141 Reservation, Hilgard Hill to Mt. Emily Road, Meacham Area, Immigrant Springs, 142 LaGrande to Pendleton, "Trail leaving Pendleton West" to T2N R25E (Boardman, 143 Lexington, west side of Sand Hollow), "Trail surveys Pendleton to Well Spring," 144 followed by surveys to the crossing of the Deschutes River and across in Wasco
145 County to McCoy Road at T1+2N R14E. This notebook contains a pattern letter 146 and dated permission/prohibition slips dated from 1997 to 2000 describing 147 properties by TRS and sometimes the quarter section with conditions on entry.
148 The material is arranged east to west. Some pages are not attached nor punched 149 for the binder but are loose in a pocket in the front.
- 150 Two maps with highlighted approximation of the Oregon Trail, 30 minute 1:62,500 scale;
151 Mitchell Butte and Birch Creek, 1972; both maps are monochrome reproductions
152 from a USGS source without indication of publisher or date
- 153 One copy of the northeast corner (sections 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21) of a USGS quad
154 map, 7½ minute series, showing Echo and Echo Meadows and possible trail
155 routes; no date, no author identified for trail route markings
- 156 Eleven copy prints of portions of original GLO cartography for T2N R27E to T5N R29E;
157 no notes
- 158 One copy of cover of "Maps of Historical Oregon" (Preston) with 11x17 inch copies of 159 some of the maps contained in that atlas which are related to the Oregon Trail
- 160 *One copy, six sheets, of the original manuscript map of the Oregon Trail in Oregon
161 created by Earl Bickmore, Assistant Division Engineer, La Grande, Oregon, as 162 lead investigator for the Oregon State Highway Department, based on research 163 and field survey work from 1956 to 1958; provided from the personal library of 164 Jack Evans of La Grande to Stafford Hazelett who copied the maps and returned 165 the originals to Jack Evans.
- 166 *Two copy sets of ten strip maps full-sized of the Oregon Trail in Oregon, 1959, "Oregon
167 State Highway Department / The Oregon Trail / Old Fort Boise, Idaho to The 168 Dalles, Oregon / T.E.D. Draw'g No. 6138" with visible portions identified as of 169 1959
